

LACK OF MEN IN U.S. NAVY IS ADVERTISED

Don't Put 12 of 33 Warships in Service, but Otherwise in Excellent Shape

CONGRESS IS TO BE BLAMED

Also Need Torpedoes, Scouts and Auxiliaries, Acting Sec. Roosevelt Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—How 18,000 additional men would be needed by the American navy to man all of its ships for war was explained in a statement issued tonight by Acting Secretary Roosevelt, supplementing Secretary Daniels' recent reply to published questions of the navy's preparedness. While admitting that 12 of the 33 battleships cannot be put in service on account of the shortage of men, Mr. Roosevelt declared that in regard to ships and equipment the navy is in excellent shape.

"In regard to the numbers of the fleet and men of the navy," Mr. Roosevelt said, "there has never been an attempt to hide the fact that although the numbers are recruited up to the limit allowed by congress, we have only sufficient men to man in an adequate manner, a portion of the vessels already built."

"At the present time there are second-class battleships, two armored cruisers, one first-class cruiser, one second-class cruiser, two third-class cruisers, destroyers, three monitors, five submarines, one gunboat, three fuel ships, two vessels of special type are in commission in reserve; that is to say, we have on board only from 25 to 30 per cent of the crews necessary to man them in case of war."

"There are also six second-line battleships, one armored cruiser, one second-class cruiser and 14 torpedo boats which are in the condition of being 'laid up in ordinary.' These vessels are available for service at all times, but the present fleet is not sufficient to meet the needs of the navy."

To provide a proper complement for the navy, for the navy which could be made useful for war purposes and require an addition to the present force allowed by congress of about 18,000 men.

"Meanwhile the problem is becoming more difficult as time goes on because the vessels under construction which are to be provided with crews in 1915, during the coming year, will take their places with the vessels of the present fleet. The graduation of these vessels will require a complement of nearly 1,000 men each."

On paper the navy possesses at the present time 10 battleships of the first class and 23 battleships of the second class. Actually, however, only the 10 battleships of the first line and 11 battleships of the second line can be used in commission for service because of the shortage of men.

In regard to the material of the fleet—that is to say ships and their equipment—matters are on the whole excellent. As units the vessels in commission are well built, well armed and well cared for and compare in all types very favorably with vessels of other powers. In fact, believe they are better. In a few particulars such as the lack of sufficient torpedoes, there is room for great improvement. Also in regard to the lack of certain auxiliaries and the insufficient number of scouts, much can be done to make the fleet better balanced."

SENATE AND HOUSE REACH AGREEMENT ON WAR TAX BILL

Out Liquor Taxes, Decreasing Revenue $15,000,000; May Adjourn Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Agreement on the war revenue bill was reached late today by senate and house conferees at a sacrifice of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in revenue proposed to be derived. At the last moment the conferees eliminated the proposed amendments to the liquor taxes rejecting the senate amendments to increase the tax on beer from $1.50 to $1.75 a barrel, and to impose a tax of 5 cents a gallon on rectified spirits.

In sacrificing these amendments, the conferees made no substitution. Representative Underwood's proposal to restore the tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline, as in the house bill, was rejected by the senate conferees. This action fixed the estimated annual revenue at approximately $30,000,000 instead of $45,000,000 as contemplated in the senate bill.

Throughout the day the conferees fought over the liquor tax and gasoline amendments, the compromise proposal having been carried to the president by Senator Simmons and Representative Underwood. Final agreement, however, paved the way for early adjournment of congress, and leaders in both houses tonight planned to expedite adoption of the report so that the session might be ended tomorrow night. The agreement will be reported to the house at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, and will be taken up in the senate immediately after the house acts.

Cotton Legislation Defeated.

Cotton legislation met defeat in the house, while the war revenue conference was in progress, the measure to provide for a quarter of a billion additional currency through the issuance of United States notes or Panama canal bonds being rejected by a vote of 122 to 81.

Lack of quorum prevented action on the bill to permit national banks to issue circulating notes based on commercial paper up to 100 per cent of unimpaired capital and surplus, and also on the bill to amend the national bank act to permit national banks to issue currency in the form of small bills.

Indications tonight were that both of these measures would be "pocketed" in the rush for adjournment tomorrow.

The senate amendment reducing the proposed tax on bank capital and surplus from $2 to $1 a thousand was retained. The senate proposal to tax domestic export and dry wines at a rate of 5 cents a gallon with a tax of 5 cents a gallon on brandies used in the fortification of wines, also was retained. The senate amendment increasing the tax on tobacco manufacturers and dealers was agreed to with few exceptions, and the same taxes were not disturbed. Stock brokers will be taxed $10 a year, instead of $50. The graduated tax on theaters also was changed slightly, the final rates being as follows:

Theaters with a seating capacity of 500 or less will pay $25 a year; 500 capacity, $50; 1,000 capacity, $75; more than 1,000 capacity, $100 a year.

Southern members of the house fought strenuously, but in vain, for the bill which would have authorized a deposit in national and state banks in cotton and tobacco states of $250,000,000 in government funds.

Chairman Glavin of the banking and currency committee, Republican Leader Mann and others in opposition on both sides declared the cotton plan was "utterly unsound," and would contract the credit of the south rather than expand it.

CONVERTS RALLYING TO MOOSE STANDARD THROUGHOUT STATE

Campaign Nearing Close Shows Faith of Thinking Voters in Party Platform

Special to The Gazette.

TRINIDAD, Colo., Oct. 21. The Progressive anti-campaigners talked to an audience of more than 400 people here tonight, despite a terrific down-pour. A big afternoon meeting was held at La Vista, under the same conditions. The crowd of the 1,500-tall white-tiled tower of the late will be a big success.

The campaign is now in its last stages. The Moose ticket will take part in the tour (Cripple Creek, Pueblo, Colorado Springs and other cities will draw the speakers, and the campaign will not close until the night of November 2.

In the last few weeks the Progressive candidates have covered practically the entire state with a series of short meetings in every township. They have outdressed the Republican speakers at every stop and without exception the people have listened to their message with enthusiasm.

In speaking of the campaign last night, Costigan said, "I am more than pleased with the outcome of the trip for the people have shown that they wanted us, and have met us with enthusiastic receptions. Our strongest support has come from the Democrats, who have come into camp in large numbers. We are preparing to start the last week of campaigning with stops at all the big towns, and are very hopeful of the future."

BRYAN TURNS 'EM AWAY IN CAMPAIGN TALK AT TEMPLE THEATER; OPTIMISTIC OF VICTORY

Points to Record of Administration as Reason Why Democrats Should Triumph at Polls

Pleading with all the force of his magnetic oratorical powers that the voters of Colorado refuse to humiliate President Wilson and hinder his program by not electing the Democratic congressmen and Senator Thomas, and charging the Republican party with most of the crimes in the political category, Secretary William Jennings Bryan yesterday afternoon addressed about 2,500 people at Temple theater. The theater was crowded to capacity and several hundred people were turned away.

Bryan was about 45 minutes late and the crowd had begun to cheer for a funny story, a Bryanesque allusion to "18 to 1," a hint of Republican corruption and the audience was under his spell. Time has written but few lines on the secretary's face. It has not hampered his voice nor dimmed his memory for yesterday he was in a reminiscent mood.

Lived for Years on Hogs.

He told of the man "I once" he had visited Colorado Springs. "I was fed on nothing but hogs and how they came to enjoy it with his fellow Democrats, the 'I' of absolute control. He was looking over it and shot his eyes into the ranks of the 'Republicans' first broadheads, and charges of being controlled and sold by big business, but above all he praised the Wilson administration and everything connected with it. In this he ran the gamut of oratorical effects, comedy, fireworks of the Billy Sunday variety, and even sorrow.

Many Democrats, a tired sea on the platform among them former Governor Alva Adams, Mark Skinner, Congressman Seldemridge, State Senator Helen Rinz Holmstrom, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., and the complete county central committee.

Any doubt that might have existed as to whether or not Secretary Bryan would endorse Patterson's candidacy for governor in view of the latter's anti-prohibition sentiment and the former's reversal of sentiment was cleared away yesterday afternoon because Bryan, and not flat-footed for Patterson's candidacy.

A Birthday Gift for T. M. P.

"Would you imagine this grand old man on his birthday by refusing to elect him governor of a state over which he presided when it became a state?" he said.

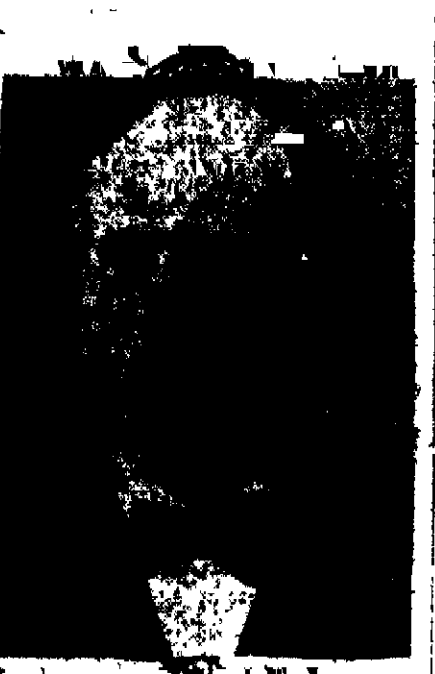

While not as programmatic as Roosevelt Bryan's illustrations of his point were graphic. Speaking of the Democratic victory he said:

"We can compare the Democratic victory to the escape of the Israelites through the Red Sea. The Republicans divided in the middle and the Democrats marched through."

"The president has more power than any other executive in the world," he said. "No monarch could be trusted as we trust our president. But without the aid of congress the president is powerless. When I think of how much opposition from congress I would have received had I been elected in 1896 I quake. The acts of the president are the Alpha and the Omega but the senate and the house are the rest of the alphabet. No other congress has better earned its salary. The president couldn't have done what he has done without the aid of congress."

Indorses State Candidates.

Bryan then urged that Senator Thomas, Congressman Seldemridge and Senator Patterson be elected, giving them his personal endorsement, especially praising Seldemridge. He referred to the charge of the Republicans that the Democratic national administration was carrying the states along.

If the Republicans had to choose the would back their candidates to a president and throw away the key, he said.

The United States today is in the spotlight. All the world is watching, but there is no discordant note between states and the national government.

No other congress has ever turned out so many big pieces of legislation. The president has kept his hands full.

Bryan first took up the first statement that the country had been seized from the throne of business, and so said of the Republican view of a panic.

How did the world of Colorado dare to raise such a cry as it has this year with no tariff, he asked.

The partnership between the Republican party and the Almsch has been dissolved. The partnership of the former partner was another of his allusions that caused a laugh.

Another that brought down the house was:

Two years ago I was sure that we will win in 1916, because by that time all the babies that were named after me 20 years ago will be able to vote.

Income Tax and Currency.

He praised the income tax and currency reform, telling how the financial center of the country had been moved from Wall street to Washington.

Where would we be today with financial circles so disturbed all over the world if we had not changed our currency plan just in time?" he asked. He called for a vote from the audience as to whether or not they favored the Washington or the Wall street plan. Not a hand showed for the latter.

TEUTONS FLEEING FROM WARSAW AND READY TO LAY SIEGE TO IVANGOROD

Austrians Fail to Cross San River; Russians Take Offensive; Naval Activities Continue Throughout World; German Cruiser in Far Eastern Waters Sinks Five British Vessels, Captures Two Others

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Pierce attacks and counter-attacks, delivered almost continuously for a week or more by the allies and Germans, have so far failed to decide the titanic battle in west Flanders and northern France.

The Germans' supreme effort is declared to be directed against the allies' left beyond Lille, while the movements along the coast so far are believed to be in the nature of a reconnaissance.

The French war office, in its statement tonight, declared that the allies are everywhere holding their ground, although especially violent attacks had been made during the day on their line from the North sea as far as T. Rasseus.

At Lille the Germans hold the two important roads out of that city—one north to Arras and the other south to Poperinghe. They have also occupied the best of the family railroad, Grand canal du Nord, which is 40 miles long, and gives complete protection for the movement of vast bodies of troops. This canal runs by Roubaix and Arras, and so far every effort of the allies to dislodge them has met with failure.

train report refers to a battle taking place further to the south of France, but that it must be part of the general operations to get the allies out of Belgium and the Netherlands.

In East Prussia the situation seems unchanged.

The Russians again report successes over the Austrians in the sphere of operations in the south.

KAISER'S FORCES HURLED BACK ALMOST TO OSTEND

Added to British warships which have bombarded villages held by the Germans, the allies are reported to have caught the Teuton force advancing along the coast between two fires and to have hurled them back to within six miles of Ostend. An unconfirmed report announced that the warships co-operating with the allies' land forces besides repelling an attack of German submarines, had shot down a Taube airplane and a Zeppelin airship.

With the death struggle in northern France at its height, Petrograd tonight lifted the veil that has shrouded in mystery the operations in the eastern theater of war by announcing that the German troops menacing Warsaw have been repulsed and are now in full retreat, leaving their wounded on the battlefield. The official statement declares that although the Germans are still occupying the left bank of the Vistula south of the Piltzka and as far as Sandomir, the Russian troops are advancing along the whole front which is 267 miles in extent.

GERMANS MAKE VIGOROUS ATTACK ALL ALONG LINE

According to the French communication the Germans made attacks on the allied lines today at Neuport, Dixmude and La Bassée.

The German general staff declares fighting continues on the Yser canal, and that the Germans taking the offensive west of Lille have repulsed the French at several points.

The reports seem to contrast with the allied news which is reported in the French press as a from a recent note, it is claimed that were in West London, and was stated that the germans had been driven back.

The Germans, however, are believed to be fighting under a great disadvantage, especially along the coast, because the British ships which have been assisting the allies' land forces have long range guns capable of seriously mauling German troops in the trenches, as well as the ammunition trains and supply convoys which must (Continued on Page Three)

BELGIAN FORCES DRIVE GERMANS BACK 5 MILES

King Albert's Army Shows Marvelous Fighting Spirit, Despite Long and Hard Campaign

FROM THE BATTLE FRONT (Via Paris, Oct. 21.) Despite the bombardment of the allied positions by the German heavy artillery, the Belgian army today forced the invaders to retire nearly five miles.

King Albert's forces, with the English on their extreme wing are showing a marvelous fighting spirit despite their long hard campaign and grief over the loss of Antwerp and other large cities.

In the terrific open struggle which has been in progress along the frontier for several days the Belgians with the French and British, have repelled with the greatest energy incessant German attacks.

On the Lys the French were closely engaged with general success. Three French sharpshooters performed a brilliant feat in defending a bridge, the possession of which was of the greatest strategic importance to both armies. The Germans made a cavalry dash in an effort to seize the passage, but the French behind a wall of barbed wire poured their fire into the Germans until the latter retired.

Around Lille where the British are in action there has been fierce fighting particularly in the neighborhood of La Bassée which threatens the German possession of Lille. Street fighting has been very severe between the long lines of houses connecting the two towns of Roubaix and Toucouin. In a baker shop one of the German troops was found in an oven, almost suffocated.

Along the center the artillery action continued today without great change, but several German trenches were captured.

RESERVE BANK DIRECTORS VOTE FOR LATE OPENING

Physically Impossible to Get Ready by Sixteenth, They Say; Board Is Not Pleased

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The governors of the 12 federal reserve banks used by two votes today to support proposal of Secretary McAdoo to open the new banking system for business November 16. By a vote of 37 to 1 they recommended that the opening be set for November 30.

This action has no binding effect on the federal reserve board or upon McAdoo for the currency act gives secretary authority to open the banks when he believes they are ready to do business. It was evident tonight members of the board were not particularly pleased with the recommendation of the banks, and it is possible that a meeting of the board with the next few days will develop sufficient sentiment to bring a vote asking secretary to name an earlier date. In several instances, the directors have not yet chosen their governors, and in many cases quarters have not yet been selected.

Some of the southern bankers were particularly anxious for an early opening because of the assistance the federal banks might give in taking care of the cotton crops.

GIRLS FOREGO CHICKEN DINNERS TO AID BELGIANS

Money Thus Saved Will Buy Materials for Clothing and College Meals Will Do Own Sewing, Too

To raise money to aid destitute Belgians, the girls at Colorado college who take their meals at Perkins hall have agreed to give up chicken for several Sundays. The money saved in this way will be used for purchasing material for clothing, which the girls themselves will make. Tinknor hall dining room has been fitted up as a sewing room, and each afternoon a score or more girls are working there under the direction of Mrs. Hale. A big box of clothing will be sent probably within the next month.

This is not the first time Colorado college girls have made personal sacrifices. Two years ago they decided to go without the customary chicken dinner on Sunday for several weeks, and in this way added materially to the fund then being raised for the new gymnasium for men.

Search Is a Cellist of Uncommon Powers

By E. D. HALE.
Frederick Preston Search, cellist, opened the musical and literary course which is to be conducted during the winter by the English department at Colorado college, last night at Perkins hall. Mr. Search is a very competent cello player. He has ample technique and power a lovely tone and is clearly under the spell of his instrument. The artist who listens with lively interest to his own playing and, so to say, addresses his audience through himself, has a trump card. This is one of Mr. Search's charms: he plays always "from the heart" and grips you so, almost as if he displayed more passion.

His first group showed him very favorably in various styles. Then came the always fresh and enchanting A major Sonata of Beethoven. It got a very satisfactory performance, except that the pianist, while often doing just and sympathetic things, bears out too frequently into rough, hard playing, covering up his principal and blurring the composer's idea.

Mr. Search as a composer has less authority and interest. There were in his pieces a good many original and striking things, but not often distinction, and, especially in the sonata, a good deal of bluster and padding. The aria, on the other hand, contains a lively and noble melody, a piece worked out with much breadth, restraint and finish. The composer has a good native gift, and he will learn the use of the pruning knife and file as he goes on. For Mr. Search is a serious musician, with really uncommon powers.

It is a pity Perkins hall could not have been crowded to hear a young Coloradoan of such sterling gifts and accomplishment. Cello lovers who were there were more than amply repaid for going, and the English department of the college is to be sincerely congratulated on the quality of the first number in its course for this season.

New King and Queen of Roumania

King Ferdinand and Queen Marie, who have come to the throne in Roumania by the death of King Charles, are very unpopular. The queen is notorious for her love affairs.

The marriage of Ferdinand and Marie was one of royal expediency. Ferdinand is supposed to this day never to have forgotten his youthful love for Helen Vacaresco, the most beautiful woman in Roumania, daughter of one of the country's noblest families. King Charles was determined that the prince should be wedded to royalty. It took two years of persuasion before he would agree to marry the English princess with her Russian ancestry and her German alliance through her father being Duke of Saxe-Coburg as well as Duke of Edinburgh.

Princess Marie soon learned of the former love of Ferdinand. Her own affinities are numerous and known to all Europe. The Roumanians ready at first to take the tall, dashing Princess Marie to their bosoms, found she was cynical, unsympathetic, proud and, worst of all, contemptuous of the people over whom she and her husband were to rule.

PEACE YET SEEMS TO BE LONG WAY FROM MEXICO

Carranza's Repudiation of Claim of Convention to Sovereign Power Shakes Faith of U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20--That General Carranza's repudiation of the claim of the convention at Aguascalientes to the sovereign power in Mexico has shaken confidence in official circles that peace is near in the republic was apparent here tonight.

General Carranza's message to the convention asking by what authority it had proclaimed itself sovereign and declaring he would deliver the executive power only to the man elected by the people, has also dampened the hope that the contest for control of Mexico's political affairs between Carranza and Villa was about to be finally adjusted.

Some officials interpret the adjournment of the convention to await the arrival of the Zapata delegates as merely a move on the part of some of the delegates to confer with Carranza and determine what their course of action should be.

Officials doubted reports that General Villa had moved a large force to the vicinity of Aguascalientes to co-operate with the delegates. Official reports, they said, showed that while suspicions of such a move existed when Villa first arrived there were dispelled by his frank statement to the convention of his intention to abide by its decrees.

Villa Doesn't Deny Reports.

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 20--Border reports that General Villa had arrested several of the Carranza delegates to the convention at Aguascalientes lacked definite denial today from Villa agents here. The unexpected entry of the northern leader into the conference city at the head of several hundred troops has caused much anxiety to the Carranza followers, but they failed to confirm the report.

Villa himself it was reported officially, has left Aguascalientes for Durango City with a strong column. It was understood that he had gone to quell the Arrieta brothers whose troops had joined Gen. Maclovio Herrera, in his desertion of the division of the north to the Carranza side. Another proclamation from Herrera scoring Villa was received here today.

Army at Aguascalientes.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 20--The Mexican consulate here today received a report from Mexico City stating that Gen. Francisco Villa created a panic among the delegates to the convention of military chiefs in Aguascalientes today by moving an army of 18,000 men into position where he can envelop the city and imprison the entire conference.

Villa's army is reported to be within an hour's march of Aguascalientes. To oppose him there are Carranza troops at Monterey and Saltillo, but it would take several days to get them to Aguascalientes.

According to the message from Mexico City to the consulate here, the delegates at Aguascalientes, who include many chiefs of the Constitutional army, have made an appeal to Carranza to guarantee their freedom during the convention, which was resumed today. They asserted that Villa's soldiers, who are in Aguascalientes as escorts to the chief of Villa's army rob them and insult them in the streets. They ask that Aguascalientes and the surrounding territory be declared neutral during the convention or that the convention be removed to Mexico City.

LACK OF MEN IN U.S. NAVY IS ADVERTISED

Can't Put 12 of 33 Warships in Service, but Otherwise in Excellent Shape

CONGRESS IS TO BE BLAMED

Also Need Torpedoes, Scouts and Auxiliaries, Acting Sec. Roosevelt Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—How 18,000 additional men would be needed by the American navy to man all of its ships for war was explained in a statement issued tonight by Acting Secretary Daniels in reply to a question of the navy's preparedness. While admitting that 12 of the 33 battleships cannot be put in service on account of the shortage of men, Mr. Roosevelt declared that in regard to ships and equipment the navy is in excellent shape.

In regard to the numbers of the fleet and men of the navy, Mr. Roosevelt said: "There has never been an attempt to hide the fact that although the numbers are excellent up to the limit allowed by Congress, we are only sufficient men to man, in an adequate manner, a portion of the vessels already built."

"At the present time three second-class battleships, two armored cruisers, one first-class cruiser, one second-class cruiser, two third-class cruisers, one destroyer, three monitors, five submarines, one gunboat, three fuel ships and two vessels of special type are in commission in reserve, that is to say, they have on board only from 25 to 100 per cent of the crews necessary to man them in case of war."

"There are also six second-line battleships, one armored cruiser, one second-class cruiser and 14 torpedo boats which are in the condition technically called 'in ordinary.' These vessels are manned by 10 to 25 per cent of their regular complements, just enough to prevent them from rusting in place."

SENATE AND HOUSE REACH AGREEMENT ON WAR TAX BILL

Ent Liquor Taxes, Decreasing Revenue $15,000,000; May Adjourn Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Agreement on the war revenue bill was reached late today by senate and house conferees at a sacrifice of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in revenue proposed to be derived. At the last moment the conferees eliminated the proposed amendments to the liquor taxes, rejecting the senate amendments to increase the tax on beer from $1.50 to $1.75 a barrel and to impose a tax of 5 cents a gallon on rectified spirits.

In sacrificing these amendments the conferees made no substitution. Representative Underwood's proposal to restore the tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline as in the house bill was rejected by the senate conferees. This action fixed the estimated annual revenue at approximately $30,000,000 in place of $105,000,000 as contemplated in the senate bill.

Throughout the day the conferees fought over the liquor tax and gasoline amendments, the compromise proposal having been carried to the president by Senator Simmons and Representative Underwood. Final agreement, however, paved the way for early adjournment of congress, and leaders in both houses tonight planned to expedite adoption of the report so that the session might be ended tomorrow night. The agreement will be reported to the house at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and will be taken up in the senate immediately after the house vote.

Cotton Legislation Defeated.
Cotton legislation met defeat in the house, while the war revenue conference was in progress. The measure to provide for a quarter of a billion additional currency through the issuance of United States notes or Panama canal bonds being rejected by a vote of 128 to 91.

Lack of quorum prevented action on the bill to permit national banks to issue circulating notes based on commercial paper up to 100 per cent of unimpaired capital and surplus, and also on the measure to license cotton warehouses. Indications tonight were that both of these measures would be "packed" in the rush for adjournment tomorrow.

The war revenue bill as passed fixed the tax on beer at $1.50 a barrel, with the senate amendment for a 5 per cent rebate for prompt payment eliminated. The senate amendment reducing the proposed tax on bank capital and surplus from $2 to $1 a thousand was retained. The senate proposal to tax domestic sugar and dry wines 8 cents a gallon with a tax of 55 cents a gallon on brandy as used in the fortification of wines, also was retained. The senate amendment increasing the tax on tobacco manufacturers and dealers was agreed to with few exceptions, and the stamp taxes were undisturbed. Sixty smokers will be taxed $50 a year instead of $50. The graduated tax on theaters also was changed slightly, the final rates being as follows:

Theaters with a seating capacity of 250 or less will pay $25 a year; 500 capacity, $50; 600 capacity, $75; more than 600 capacity, $100 a year.

Southern members of the house fought strenuously but in vain for the bill which would have authorized a deposit in national and state banks in cotton and tobacco states of $250,000,000 in government funds.

Chairman Glass of the banking and currency committee, Republican Leader Mann and others in opposition on both sides declared the cotton plan was utterly unsound and would contract the credit of the south rather than expand it.

Special to The Gazette
TRINIDAD, Colorado, Oct. 21.—The Progressive auto campaigners talked to an audience of more than 400 people here tonight, despite a terrific down-pour. A big afternoon meeting was held at La Vista under the same conditions. The last lap of the 1,600-mile whirlwind tour of the state will be finished tomorrow night with a meeting at La Vista.

BRYAN TURNS 'EM AWAY IN CAMPAIGN TALK AT TEMPLE THEATER; OPTIMISTIC OF VICTORY

Points to Record of Administration as Reason Why Democrats Should Triumph at Polls

Pleading with all the force of his magnetic oratorical powers that the voters of Colorado refuse to humiliate President Wilson and hinder his program by not electing the Democratic congressmen and Senator Thomas and charging the Republican party with most of the crimes in the political category, Secretary William Jennings Bryan yesterday afternoon addressed about 2,500 people at Temple theater. The theater was packed to capacity and several hundred people were turned away.

Bryan was about 45 minutes late and the crowd had begun to chafe but a "funny" story, a Bryanesque allusion to 14 in 14, a hint of Republican corruption and the audience was under his spell. Time has written but few lines on the secretary's face, he has not hampered his voice nor dimmed his memory for yesterday he was in a reminiscent mood.

Lived for Years on Hope
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

He told of the many times he had visited Colorado Springs after he was elected on nothing but hope and how now he came to realize that with his fellow Democrats the moral of absolute control. He was constant over it and when his eyes met the ranks of the Republicans, he broadened his charges of being controlled and sold by big business, but always all he praised the Wilson administration and everything connected with it. In this he ran the gamut of historical effects, comedy, fireworks of the Hill Sunday variety and even sorrow.

Many Democrats applauded from the platform among them former Governor Alva Adams, Mark Skinner, Congressman Selmon, Senator Helen Long Johnson, William Jennings Bryan Jr. and for complete central committee.

Any doubt that might have existed as to whether or not Secretary Bryan would endorse Patterson's candidacy for governor in view of the letters anti-Patterson sentiment and the former's reverse political sentiment was cleared away yesterday afternoon because Bryan came out flat-footed for Patterson's candidacy.

A Birthday Gift for T. M. P.
Would you humiliate this grand old man on his birthday by refusing to elect him governor of a state over which he presided when it became a state? he said.

While not as grammatical as Roosevelt, Bryan's illustrations of his point were graphic. Speaking of the Democratic victory he said:

"We can compare the Democratic victory to the escape of the Israelites through the Red sea. The Republicans divided in the middle and the Democrats marched through."

"The president has more power than any other executive in the world," he said. "No monarch could be trusted as we trust our president. But without the aid of congress the president is powerless. When I think of how much opposition from congress I should have received had I been elected in 1898 I quake. The acts of the president are the Alpha and the Omega but the senate and the house are the rest of the alphabet. No other congress has better earned its salary. The president could have done what he has done without the aid of congress."

Indorse State Candidates.
Bryan then urged that Senator Thomas, Congressman Selmon and Senator Patterson be elected, giving them his personal endorsement, especially praising Selmon. He referred to the charge of the Republicans that the Democratic nations.

CAUGHT BETWEEN FIRE ON LAND AND SEA, FORCES OF KAISER ARE HURLED BACK

Germans' Supreme Effort Directed Against Allies' Left Near Lille, Where They Are Strongly Intrenched; Fleet, Although Annoyed by Submarines, Doing Big Damage

TEUTONS FLEEING FROM WARSAW AND READY TO LAY SIEGE TO IVANGOROD

Austrians Fail to Cross San River; Russians Take Offensive; Naval Activities Continue Throughout World; German Cruiser in Far Eastern Waters Sinks Five British Vessels, Captures Two Others

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Fierce attacks and counter-attacks, delivered almost continuously for a week or more by the allies and Germans, have so far failed to decide the titanic battle in west Flanders and northern France.

The Germans' supreme effort is declared to be directed against the allies' left beyond Lille, while the movements along the coast so far are believed to be in the nature of a reconnaissance.

The British war office, in its statement tonight, declared that the allies are everywhere holding their ground, although especially violent attacks had been made during the day on their lines from the North sea as far as Le Basses.

At Lille the Germans held the two important roads out of that city, one to the north to Arras and the other to the south to Fournies. They also have occupied the bed of the partly dried Grand Canal du Nord which is 60 miles long and gives complete protection for the movement of vast bodies of troops. This canal runs to Roubaix and Arras and so far every effort of the allies to dislodge them has met with failure.

KAISER'S FORCES HURLED BACK ALMOST TO OSTEND
According to the French communiqué on the German front, the allies have hurled the Teutons back along the coast between two forts in six miles of front. An unconfirmed report announced that the warships' action repelling an attack of German submarines led to a downing of a Taube and a Zeppelin in a ship.

With the death cry in northern France at its height, Paris and tonight in the east the operations in the eastern theater of war is announcing that the German troops moving Warsaw have been repulsed and are now in full retreat leaving their wounded on the battlefield. The official statement declares that although the Germans are still occupying the left bank of the Vistula south of the Pultwa and as far as Sandomir, the Russian troops are advancing along the whole front, which is 287 miles in extent.

CONCENTRATE ARTILLERY AT IVANGOROD, PORTRESS
The German report declares no decisive result has been achieved in the fighting in Russia.

The report seems to show that the Germans have concentrated a strong force of artillery in front of Kocmin, just across the river from the important fortress of Ivangorod. It adds that the Russians are holding this district under most unfavorable conditions.

On the progress of the allies in Galicia the Russian and Austrian reports are again in direct conflict. The Russians say the Austrians have failed to cross the San river and that the Russians are taking the offensive, while near Przemyśl the Russians repulsed numerous attacks of Austrians.

The Austrians on the other hand claim that their attacks are progressing and that the Russians have been driven out of several places. It is thought possible here that the Austrians have been successful in their attacks.

On the Italian front the French were engaged with general success. Three French sharpshooters performed a brilliant feat in defending a bridge the possession of which was of the greatest strategic importance to both armies. The German made a valiant dash in an effort to capture the bridge but the French held it and the Germans were repulsed.

Along the center the artillery action continued today without great changes, but several German trenches were captured.

An Answer to Mr. Carlson's Appeal to Progressives to Come Back

Extract from Colonel Roosevelt's letter to Mr. Dan D. Casement:

"I wish I could be in your state to support the Progressive ticket and say everything in my power for the candidates. In my letter already sent to Mr. Coston, I have given in full the reasons why I feel that all decent citizens—that all good citizens of Colorado—should stand this fall for the Progressive party, the one party which stands effectively for law and order, because it insists that, upon law and order as a stable foundation, there shall be built the superstructure of genuine and thoroughgoing justice."

King Albert's Army Shows Marvelous Fighting Spirit, Despite Long and Hard Campaign

FROM THE LITTLE FRONT (Via Paris, Oct. 21.)—The campaign of the allied positions by the German heavy artillery, the Belgian army today forced the invaders to retire nearly five miles.

In the terrible open steppe, which has been in possession of the French and British for a period with the greatest energy in German attacks.

GIRLS FOREGO CHICKEN DINNERS TO AID BELGIANS

Money Thus Saved Will Buy Materials for Clothing and College Maids.
Will Do Own Sewing, Too

To raise money to aid destitute Belgians, the girls at Colorado college who take their meals at Perkins hall have agreed to forego chicken for several Sundays. The money saved in this way will be used for purchasing material for clothing, which the girls themselves will make. Tieknor hall dining room has been fitted up as a sewing room, and each afternoon a score or more girls are working there under the direction of Mrs. Hale. A big box of clothing will be sent probably within the next month.

This is not the first time Colorado college girls have made personal sacrifices. Two years ago they decided to go without the customary chicken dinner on Sunday for several weeks, and in this way added materially to the fund then being raised for the new gymnasium for men.

Search Is a Cellist of Uncommon Powers

By E. D. HALE.

Frederick Preston Search, cellist, opened the musical and literary course which is to be conducted during the winter by the English department at Colorado college, last night at Perkins hall. Mr. Search is a very competent cellist. He has ample technique and power; a lovely tone and is clearly under the spell of his instrument. The artist who listens with lively interest to his own playing and, so to say, addresses his audience through himself, has a trump card. This is one of Mr. Search's charms—he plays always "con amore," and grips you so almost as if he displaced more passion.

His first group showed him very favorably in various styles. Then came the always fresh and enchanting a minor Sonata of Beethoven. It got a very satisfactory performance, except that the pianist, while often doing just and sympathetic things, bears out too frequently into rough, hard playing, covering up his principal and blurring the composer's idea.

Mr. Search as a composer has less authority and interest. There were in his pieces a good many original and striking things, but not often distinction, and, especially in the sonata, a good deal of bluster and padding. The aria, on the other hand, contains a lively and noble melody—a piece worked out with much breadth, restraint and finish. The composer has a good native gift, and he will learn the use of the pruning knife and file as he goes on. For Mr. Search is a serious musician, with really uncommon powers.

It is a pity Perkins hall could not have been crowded to hear a young Coloradoan of such sterling gifts and accomplishment. Cellists who were there were more than amply repaid for going, and the English department of the college is to be sincerely congratulated on the quality of the first number in its course for this season.

King Ferdinand and Queen Marie, who have come to the throne in Roumania by the death of King Charles, are very unpopular. The queen is notorious for her love affairs.

The marriage of Ferdinand and Marie was one of royal expediency. Ferdinand is supposed to this day never to have forgotten his youthful love for Helen Vacaresco, the most beautiful woman in Roumania, daughter of one of the country's noblest families. King Charles was determined that the prince should be wedded to royalty. It took two years of persuasion before he would agree to marry the English princess with her Russian ancestry and her German alliance—through her father being Duke of Saxe-Coburg as well as Duke of Edinburgh.

Princess Marie soon learned of the former love of Ferdinand. Her own affections are numerous and known to all Europe. The Roumanians, ready at first to take the tall, dashing Princess Marie to their bosom, found she was cynical, unamiable, proud and, worst of all, contemptuous of the people over whom she and her husband were to rule.

PEACE YET SEEMS TO BE LONG WAY FROM MEXICO

Carranza's Repudiation of Claim of Convention to Sovereign Power

Shakes Faith of U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—That General Carranza's repudiation of the claim of the convention at Aguascalientes to the sovereignty of Mexico has shaken confidence in official circles that peace is near in the republic was apparent here tonight.

General Carranza's message to the convention asking by what authority it had proclaimed itself sovereign and declaring he would deliver the executive power only to the man elected by the people, has also dampened the hope that the contest for control of Mexico's political affairs between Carranza and Villa was about to be finally adjusted.

Some officials interpret the adjournment of the convention to await the arrival of the Zapata delegates as merely a move on the part of some of the delegates to confer with Carranza and determine what their course of action should be.

Officials doubted reports that General Villa had moved a large force to the vicinity of Aguascalientes to coerce the delegates. Official reports, they said, showed that while suspicions of such a move existed when Villa first arrived, they were dispelled by his frank statement to the convention of his intention to abide by its decrees.

Villa Doesn't Deny Reports

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 20.—Border reports that General Villa had arrested several of the Carranza delegates to the convention at Aguascalientes lacked definite denial today from Villa agents here. The unexpected entry of the northern leader into the conference city at the head of several hundred troops has caused much anxiety to the Carranza followers, but they failed to confirm the report.

Villa himself, it was reported officially, has left Aguascalientes for Durango City with a strong column. It was understood that he had gone to quell the Arrieta brothers, whose troops had joined Gen. Maclovio Herrera. In his desertion of the division of the north to the Carranza side, another proclamation from Herrera, scoring Villa was received here today.

Army at Aguascalientes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 20.—The Mexican consulate here today received a report from Mexico City stating that Gen. Francisco Villa created a panic among the delegates to the convention of military chiefs in Aguascalientes today by moving an army of 18,000 men into position where he can envelop the city and imprison the entire conference.

Villa's army is reported to be within an hour's march of Aguascalientes. To oppose him there are Carranza troops at Monterey and Saltillo, but it would take several days to get them to Aguascalientes.

According to the message from Mexico City to the consulate here, the delegates at Aguascalientes, who include many chiefs of the Constitutional army, have made an appeal to Carranza to guarantee their freedom during the convention, which was resumed today. They asserted that Villa's soldiers, who are in Aguascalientes as escorts to the chief of Villa's army, rob them and insult them in the streets. They ask that Aguascalientes and the surrounding territory be declared neutral during the convention or that the convention be removed to Mexico City.

War Situation in Paragraphs

The repulse of fierce German attacks all along the entire battle front in northern France; an advance of five miles by Belgian troops, and the hurling back of the Teuton force advancing on Warsaw are reported in official statements from Paris and Petrograd.

The Russian statement declares the Germans have been forced to abandon all the positions they fortified in advance, and are in retreat along the whole front that covers more than 200 miles.

British warships are reported to have bombed villages along the coast held by the Germans, who were caught between two fires and forced to retreat after fierce fighting. It is declared that the German line was forced back to within six miles of Ostend.

Turkey has notified the powers that warships have been forbidden in the gulf of Smyrna. The inhabitants there have feared an attack by the English-French fleet and the notification is regarded as an action against the allies.

Two submarines and several aeroplanes are reported to have been sent to Constantinople through Bulgaria, where several trainloads of war munitions destined for the Turkish capital were said to have been held up recently.

An action between German torpedo boats and hostile submarines was reported in the Baltic near Rugen island off the Prussian coast, but has not been confirmed. The British fleet off the coast of Belgium also was reported to have shot down a German aeroplane and a Zeppelin, but this has not been verified.

Both French and British pay tribute to the valor of the Belgians who, with the allies, are holding back the German advance along the North sea coast. incessant fighting has been in progress from the coast line as far south as La Bassée, a distance of about 50 miles, but this line is divided into several fronts on which separate engagements are being fought. It is this line the Germans are endeavoring to break in their attempt to reach Dunkirk and other French seaports.

Three British monitors, the Savern, Humber and Mersey, with six-inch and other heavy guns, are shelling the Germans in the vicinity of Ostend, where, it is said, terrible execution has been done. Machine gun detachments also have been landed from these vessels and are assisting in the defense of Neuport. There has been particularly hard fighting in the Lille region where the British are in action. The important town of Lille is still held by the Germans, and the encounters in this neighborhood have been of a hand-to-hand character, evidently with little advantage to either side.

An American commission headed by Herbert C. Hoover of California, will, as the result of an agreement reached between Belgium, Great Britain and Germany, take under its charge the care of hundreds of thousands of Belgians who are threatened with starvation in their own country.

Optimistic reports from the Russian viewpoint come from Petrograd, where, besides the check to the Germans, it is officially announced that the advances of the Austrians in Galicia have been stayed.

The Austrian official statement disputes the Russian claims of victory, declaring that the battle in Galicia has become more violent, with the Austrians gaining ground in the east, while all attempts of the Russians to recapture Magiera have been in vain.

Sasebo, the naval port of Japan, reports that the Japanese have destroyed the military equipment and seized large quantities of gold and munitions of war on the German islands in the South seas recently occupied.

The Japanese embassy in Rome announces that the Japanese have captured an auxiliary cruiser of the German squadron and that another cruiser sank.

By order of the Russian emperor the students of the universities and high schools have been called to the colors. These youths are ordinarily exempt from war service.

Ghent and Bruges Were Not Damaged by Kaiser

BERLIN, Oct. 21. (The Hague and London)—The cities of Ghent and Bruges in Belgium having been occupied by the Germans without fighting, they were in no way damaged. The churches and museums are intact. When last month a bombardment of the famous art treasures in the two cities were moved to places of safety. These include Michael Angelo's statue of the Madonna which was in the church of Notre Dame at Bruges and art treasures and pictures in the hospital of St. John near the church of Notre Dame. Some of the pictures were placed in a safe deposit vault. The museum of Charles the Bold in Notre Dame was not damaged.

The international crisis and its relation to the Mexican troubles. The president spent many a sleepless night over the Mexican situation. He pushed Huerta out of Mexico by moral pressure. The Republicans and the jingo press tried to send the army across the Rio Grande. If we had, where would we be now? Thank God for the president who kept peace in the western hemisphere. The Republican leaders would have forced a war had they been in power. It would have been the spark that would have set the entire world aflame, more than at the present time. Three months ago the Republicans expected to make their campaign on the Mexican policy of President Wilson. They are not doing it now.

Speaks in Denver Today.

Following his talk Bryan left immediately for Pueblo where he delivered a speech last night. Today at noon he will speak in Denver, leaving this afternoon for northern Colorado. Congressman Seldondridge left yesterday afternoon to look after interests in northern Colorado. He will join Bryan for a two-day tour.

The following letter on the suffrage question was handed to Mr. Bryan yesterday afternoon by Dr. Caroline F.

GERMANS HURLED BACK BY FIRE FROM LAND AND SEA

remain in the immediate rear of the troops. While no official information is available as to the ships which are being used for this purpose, it is probable that they are the three monitors which were being completed in England for the Brazilian government when the war broke out, and which were bought by the United States.

BRITISH SHIPS TOSS BIG SHELLS 4 MILES INLAND

These monitors, which have been renamed Mace, Thetis and Scylla, fired more than nine feet of water and drove them into positions not far from shore from which their six-inch guns and 4.7-inch howitzers of which they have 1 carrier two would be able to throw shells nearly four miles across against the main German positions.

The vessels assisting the allies have not been allowed to carry out their operations in peace for German submarines have followed them down the coast and attacked them while they were shelling German positions. These attacks, however, were made futile by the presence of British destroyers. One account says the submarines suffered losses, but this statement has not been confirmed.

It has been remarked that the submarines and aeroplanes which in times of peace have proved themselves the most dangerous arms of the army and navy service have suffered little loss since the war commenced and have been doing splendid work.

The battle on land are being contested with fury and tenacity which would indicate that strategic importance is attached to the positions held by the opposing armies. When a town is reached street fighting generally develops, such as that which took place at Ypres last week. One side gains an advantage only to lose it when the other side brings up reinforcements.

ALLIES STILL HOLDING Ypres Important Point

Thus far the allies have been able to hold Ypres which is considered an important point as it supports the allied force thrown out toward Roulers and seemingly endangers the rear of the German army advancing toward Dixmude and the coast.

The Germans are striking hard at the French line in the vicinity of La Bassée and have made counter-attacks against the force which for many days has been endeavoring to relieve Lille.

Along the rest of the line from west to east the French communication says, there is no notable change. The German staff also ignores that part of the battle front in its statement. These reports doubtless mean that neither side has made any considerable advance. It is not believed here that there has been a cessation in the fighting either on the Meuse where the French are trying to drive the Germans away from St. Mihiel and Camp des Romains, or at Belfort, which the Germans are attacking.

Naval activities continue in different parts of the world. The German cruiser Emden again has been busy in far eastern waters despite the capture last week of her supply ship. She has sunk four British steamers and a dredger and captured two others—the steamers Exford and Saint Ebert. The Saint Ebert was allowed to proceed to Cebu, British India, with the passengers and crews of the vessel which the Emden sank. The report of the operations of the Emden does not say what was done with the Exford, which flies the British flag and was bound from Yokohama for New York.

SUBMARINES ENGAGE DESTROYERS IN BATTLE

In the Adriatic, where the allies' fleets are attacking Cattaro there has been fighting between the French cruiser Waldeck Rousseau and Austrian submarines and torpedo boat destroyers. According to the Austrian account of the fight, the warships "engaged safely." Austrian submarines also have raided Antivari, Montenegro and destroyed some magazines.

In the Baltic it is reported, there has been an engagement between torpedo boat destroyers and submarines. No details of this fighting have been received here.

Italy has decided to remain out of the war but she has notified the powers that she may find it necessary to occupy Aviano, Albania, owing to the chaotic conditions prevailing in that country.

A revolutionary outbreak occurred in Portugal today, but was promptly suppressed. It was learned from an authoritative Portuguese source in London that the Portuguese government had been in close communication with Great Britain and was prepared to employ all her available forces whenever necessary by the side of the allies. The Portuguese congress meets tomorrow and it is expected will take some action on this subject.

Belgian refugees are beginning to return from Holland to their own country, especially to Antwerp. German military authorities it is said, have ordered all German civilians to leave Brussels, owing to its threatened shortage of provisions there.

Great Britain is adopting stricter measures against German and Austrian subjects in that country. Many of the men will be sent to detention camps.

Yours truly,

Austrian Manufacturers Are Short of Materials

VENICE, Oct. 21. (The Star)—Shortage of raw materials, notably cotton wool, and petroleum is greatly restricting production in many branches of manufacturing in Austria. It is officially estimated that the supplies of some of the most necessary raw products are barely sufficient for the next two months. Industries are closing and the number of unemployed is increasing steadily.

CLEAR AWAY PANAMA JUNGLE

From the Washington Star. Army engineers have found that the greatest difficulty in the way of planning the fortifications in the canal zone to resist attack from the land is the almost impenetrable tropical jungle. This will afford cover for an enemy attacking the forts and trenches and prevent having a clear field of fire. So they are about to expend about $100,000 in the attempt to clear away this jungle. It is necessary, probably, burning the tract over and over again and placing cattle there as was done in the Philippines.

SHOULD BE RETIRED

From the Philadelphia North American. Had the present tariff on raw materials been in existence for the past few years this country would now be in a deplorable position. This fact should be remembered in the elections of November. The men who helped to make this law should be retired from Congress. A Republican majority should be chosen which act in itself would serve as a warning to the world that the present unfair and unequal policy will be tolerated no longer than the shortest time within which the restoration of the Republic in party to power in the nation can be accomplished.

BANKERS URGE RATE INCREASE BE GRANTED EASTERN RAILROADS 700,000 BELGIANS TO BE FED THIS WINTER BY AMERICAN BOARD

Psychological Stimulus to Business Chief Consideration, They Assert

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The psychological stimulus to business that might be effected by a general five per cent increase in freight rates should be the chief consideration of the Interstate Commerce Commission, it was declared today in the commission's hearing on the renewed application of the eastern railroads.

Stress on the psychological aspect of the situation was laid by Lawrence Chamberlain, a New York banker, who spoke for the Investment Bankers' association.

Mr. Chamberlain said he knew nothing about freight rates, his testimony was devoted to a detailed discussion of the railway bond market.

This question ought to be settled not on the basis of railroads and shipping, he asserted, but on the contention of the bankers that the country needs saving. Raising rates is the greatest thing that can be done to relieve the situation psychologically.

The position of the witness was instantly challenged by Commissioners Clements and Clark.

Is it the general understanding of the bankers, asked the former, that this commission has carte blanche to do anything it wants to do to meet a psychological condition? We had supposed this was a government of law, not of the caprice of commission.

Bankers Testify All Day

We will not take any other position in any brief we file in this case, he testified, interposed Morris Rosenthal, counsel for the intervening bankers. We make no other contention.

We come before you when in our opinion the credit condition of the country is paramount. Mr. Chamberlain interpreted. He added that the bankers had taken no part in the price war between railroads and shipping, and were rate advance.

The entire day was devoted to hearing the testimony of bankers. The cross examination of Frederick Strauss was concluded. Mr. Strauss quoted Sir George Paish, the English financial expert here to discuss international exchange with American officials as authority for his statement that English investors found American railroad securities less and less attractive.

Mr. Strauss was followed by Mr. Chamberlain who produced a chart showing the trend of bond prices and credit over many years. This he contended showed that the credit of the nation as represented by its banks had closely paralleled the price of railroad bonds up to 1910. At that time he said the credit situation had broken away from the railroad securities which were in a decline. He explained this by saying that other securities such as public service corporation and municipal bonds, had been growing in popularity largely because of government aid, either federal or state, extended to them.

Roads' Credit Best

Counsel for various shippers' organizations and special counsel for the commission took sharp issue with the witness on the question of the relative attractiveness to foreign investors of railway bonds and the securities of public service corporations and industrial concerns.

Louis Brandeis and Clifford Thorne drew from Mr. Chamberlain admissions that at present the yield of industrial securities is one per cent higher than that of railway bonds and of public service securities half of one per cent higher. The "yield" was explained, indicated the rate corporations were compelled to pay for borrowed money and showed the credit of the railways still to be better than that of other concerns.

Need Million Dollars Monthly

Speaking of the work of the commission, Mr. Hoover said: "We are advised by Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, that the position of the Belgians with regard to the food supply is becoming absolutely critical, inasmuch as there are 7,000,000 people in Belgium and the country imports 60 per cent of its food supplies. It is entirely needless, and, as the country has been denuded of its accumulated crops, virtually the whole population is faced with famine."

"The restrictions put upon imports into the Netherlands by England have made it virtually impossible for the Belgians to secure supplies of foodstuffs from neutral countries, and the creation of machinery which can secure such imports to their country has become a virtual necessity."

"Baron Lambert and Emil Franquet of the Belgian relief committee are now in London cooperating with us, and they assure us that $1,000,000 worth of food stuffs will be required monthly during the coming winter to feed the Belgians."

"The chief supplies required will be wheat, rice, beans and peas. The commission expects to conduct innumerable soup kitchens."

"Beans and peas are especially needed. We have been unable to purchase more than 200 tons of these cereals in the London market, and we urgently need 5,000 tons. We can arrange for the handling of any amount of food to Belgium by way of Holland on account of the facilities extended by the Dutch and the Germans. Australia, which is sending frozen sheep to Belgium already has arranged for us to distribute them."

The commission hopes that the situation may be brought urgently before the American people, that this charity to a liberty-loving people may take the practical form of food supplies and that the American organizations already soliciting help for the Belgians will cooperate with the commission in the application of their resources."

Mine Sinks Cormorant of Cork; Crew Rescued

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The steamer Cormorant of Cork sank in the North sea," says a dispatch to Lloyd's from Harwich. "It is supposed she struck a mine. Her crew probably was saved by a torpedo boat which was seen to leave her."

SOUTH CAROLINA TO BUY COTTON WORTH $5 MILLION

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 21.—The South Carolina state today passed a bill authorizing a $5,000,000 bond issue for the purchase of cotton by the state.

Commission Approved by 3
Powers; Will Require One Million Monthly

LONDON, Oct. 21.—An American commission headed by Herbert C. Hoover of California will feed 700,000 Belgians who are on the verge of starvation as a result of the war in Europe.

An agreement to this effect has just been reached after weeks of diplomatic negotiations in which Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, acted as intermediary between Belgium, England and Germany. Mr. Hoover has been acting as chairman of the American relief committee in London. More than $1,250,000 will be placed at his disposal for the relief of the stricken nation.

Early in the negotiations, regarding means to relieve these people, Germany declared her willingness to assist, but she declined to give the guarantee requested by the British foreign office until the latter lifted the embargo on foodstuffs.

The situation was becoming desperate when Ambassador Page proposed that Mr. Hoover undertake the work, Germany immediately acceded to this plan, and England as promptly removed the restriction on food exports.

Formal formation of the commission will not be completed until a meeting is held today, but Mr. Hoover already has purchased with the funds supplied by the Belgian relief committee $150,000 worth of food which will be sent to Belgium Saturday on a specially chartered ship by way of Rotterdam.

Food Situation Critical

The food situation in Belgium is becoming absolutely critical. Already over 500,000 persons are being assisted by means of bread lines, according to the committee's reports, there being over 800,000 of these persons in Brussels alone. The supply of food for these bread stations it is estimated, will not last more than a week longer. It is expected that the number of persons requiring relief will increase to 1,000,000 within a month.

A stream of specially chartered steamships will soon start for Holland with their cargoes consigned to officers of the commission at various places in Belgium. These officers will be under direct control of the commission and will be located in London, Rotterdam, Antwerp, Brussels, Ghent, Liege and other points. When necessary the commission will cooperate with the Belgian national relief committee, which has headquarters in Brussels.

To insure effective working of this cooperation, the members of the American commission in Belgium will be made members of the Belgian organization. But care will be taken to see that this cooperation does not affect the neutrality of the commission, which is to work under the auspices of both the English and German governments.

Half a million dollars was placed at the disposal of Mr. Hoover yesterday from the various Belgian funds, and through Ambassador Page $750,000 more will be turned over to the commission today.

Need Million Dollars Monthly

Speaking of the work of the commission, Mr. Hoover said: "We are advised by Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, that the position of the Belgians with regard to the food supply is becoming absolutely critical, inasmuch as there are 7,000,000 people in Belgium and the country imports 60 per cent of its food supplies. BUSY IN STATE DEPARTMENT

Routine Work Concerns More Different Countries Than Ever Before.

Hallam Winter in the National Magazine. Day after day the little ribbons of red, white and blue attached to the correspondence flutter about the desks in the department over which William Jennings Bryan presides. Into the room of the secretary file the papers, paper correspondents and in 10 minutes the world survey is made, the columns of news are written and telegraphed all over the country.

The secretary, sitting on the corner of his desk, discusses the situation in San Domingo as encouraging; replies to the interrogations about Mexico, Japan, the far and the near east, answering now and then, "I am not prepared to discuss that proposition." It is all so informal, so simple, so direct—just what one would conceive in a republic now holding the scales, while world events are being played for with the dice of "the non game."

The scenes have shifted from Mexico to the old world, but whether it is information from Nicaragua or the latest advice from Japan, the routine of the work at the state department occupies vitally more different countries than at any other time in the history of the government. The acute spots marked on the map have over the world as never before at one time.

An if foreign complications were not enough, the state department is also engrossed with the task of rescuing and aiding Uncle Sam's citizens stranded abroad. More than 20,000 letters were received in two weeks from Americans, asking about relatives and friends on pleasure tours in the suddenly war-ridden countries. More than 5,000 persons were located, and many American residents who had not taken on their citizenship papers were drafted into service and appealed to Uncle Sam for relief. Thirty extra clerks were employed, and the work continued night and day.

VIADUCT CONTRACT IS AWARDED FOX & SMITH

Five and Five Puts in Bid $7,350 Lower Than Other Contractors Work to Start Soon

The contract for the construction of the two west spans of the Bijou street viaduct was awarded by the city council yesterday to Fox & Smith of Florence, Colo., for $14,500. The company getting the contract was the lowest bidder on the two spans, the nearest competitor, the Martin Carroll company, offering to do the work for $21,900. Fox & Smith offered to build the entire viaduct for $32,000. On advice of City Attorney J. L. Bennett, the council voted not to build the entire viaduct at this time, although in conformity with the extremely low price quoted by the Fox & Smith company, the city of the viaduct is being immediately considered.

Pat Herzog, charged with violating the dog muzzle ordinance, was fined $10 and costs by Police Magistrate Manning yesterday and payment of the fine was ordered. This is the first step toward a more rigid enforcement of the ordinance as in the past, offenders have been released on payment of the costs, which amounted to $2.50 per case.

Arrested for investigation, Charles Ross was fined $50 in police court yesterday and was released under suspended sentence.

The case of William B. Artberry against the Colorado Springs & Interurban Railway company for $20,000 for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by him when his wife was killed and he was injured by a street car near Adams canyon the night of August 21, 1913, was given to a jury in the district court last evening. A jury last week returned a verdict for the defendant in a suit for damages for Mrs. Artberry's death.

Ugar Devill, charged with violating the muffler ordinance, was fined $2 in police court yesterday. Ted Tomaszewski and A. Markshoffel, cited into court on the same charge, were not guilty and will be tried by Judge Edgerton, also charged with violating the muffler ordinance. His case was continued until today.

ENGLAND SEIZES 3 U. S. SHIPS; SAYS THEY CARRIED CONTRABAND

Washington Protests Taking of Tanker; Notice About Oil Not Sent Out

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Great Britain's determination to keep from Germany cargoes of illuminating oil, which might be turned into fuel for army motor trucks, as well as for the Zeppelins and aeroplanes, caused the seizure of American Standard Oil steamers by British cruisers.

This fact was developed today in London following the state department's request, through Ambassador Page at London, for the immediate release of the tanker John D. Rockefeller, owned by the Standard Oil company, and the tanker John D. Rockefeller, owned by the Standard Oil company.

The Standard Oil company has asked the state department to secure the release of three of its ships, the John D. Rockefeller, Brindilla and Pinaros, which were captured by British warships while bound from American ports to neutral countries, carrying illuminating oil.

Only in the case of the Rockefeller, however, has the department felt warranted in taking immediate steps. This ship was under the American flag before the European war, and therefore is not subject to any of the questions which might arise in connection with the other two vessels, which were changed from foreign registry under the recent act of congress.

British Call It Contraband

The understanding at the British embassy is that illuminating oil has been regularly declared contraband by the British government, but that the notice has not yet reached the powers. There is the case resembles the recent commandeering of a copper-laden ship which was taken into a British port in advance of notice to maritime nations that copper had been declared contraband. In that case the United States did not abandon its contention that neutral goods in neutral ships passing between neutral ports were exempt from seizure. A sharp issue was avoided, however, through an understanding between the British and American governments that the British embargo should extend to copper.

It is suggested that a similar arrangement will be sought by the British government regarding petroleum and its products, not only with Holland but with Denmark and Sweden and Norway.

It was pointed out today that the exports of refined petroleum from America to the northern neutral European countries are far in excess of the normal consumption of those countries. Only recently it developed that illuminating petroleum was capable of being used as a substitute for gasoline with properly designed motors, hence Great Britain added this product to its contraband list.

Dutch Want to Carry Goods

Another phase of the negotiations which have been in progress regarding the right of neutral ships to transport neutral goods appeared today when Mr. Van Rappard, the Dutch minister, appeared to the state department to secure for Dutch vessels the privilege of conveying neutral German goods to America.

In connection with the exportation of German dyestuffs to the United States the German government imposed the condition that the goods should be transported in American bottoms, under pledge that they should not be diverted to Germany's enemies. If this privilege is extended to Dutch vessels, the business would be greatly increased and the Dutch shipping interests would be much relieved.

WRIGHT MET FOR DASHES ACROSS SKY ABOVE CITY

DENVER, Oct. 21.—What is believed to have been a meteor of unusual brightness, whose light seemed to gain reflection from the clouds, blazed a double trail of light across the sky back of the state capitol, shortly after 10 o'clock last night and disappeared in the northwest. The phenomenon was observed by many persons, among whom were Mrs. P. N. Tamm and Miss Ella Fitzpatrick of 111. Street.

Winston Churchill in Antwerp Fighting

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Winston Spencer Churchill, the first lord of the admiralty, who accompanied the British naval brigade and marines to Antwerp, was according to one of the latter, with them in the trenches practically all the time and just before the order was given to retire urged the men to hold out 24 hours longer when the big guns would arrive. One day he recommissioned the position of the Germans in an aeroplane.

Germans in London Are Put in Detention Camps

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Austrian and German subjects of military age, who since the beginning of the war have been allowed their liberty in England, unless they rested under some suspicion, are to be interned in detention camps.

The police during the last few days have been arresting hundreds of men between the ages of 17 and 45 years and sending them to camps in different parts of the country. More than 200 were arrested in London today, 100 were arrested in Manchester and similar numbers were taken in all the large cities.

This action of the government is necessitated, it is said, because of the facilities offered German spies to enter the country with Belgian refugees on the pretense of being Belgians.

No distinctions are being made. Wealthy bankers and merchants are receiving the same treatment as are small shopkeepers and waiters. Those who failed to register or contravened any of the rules under which they were allowed to reside in their own homes are being prosecuted.

Bolivia to Build Big Smelter Near New York

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Bolivia today, in answer to inquiries, today as to whether the United States would permit it to construct a huge government smelter near New York to use the Bolivian tin ore output.

GARRISON ASKS GOV. AMMONS TO EXPLAIN TROOP MOBILIZATION

Mine Workers Agree to Protest; Charge That Gunmen Are Being Recruited

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Secretary Garrison late today telegraphed Governor Ammons of Colorado asking what steps have been taken toward mobilizing the state militia for service in the strike districts. Telegrams to the war department have charged that mine guards were being enlisted in the militia.

Secretary Garrison explained that his object in telegraphing Governor Ammons was merely to obtain information from an authoritative source.

Mrs. Garrison has been received at the department, and today a protest against the alleged enlisting of mine guards was submitted to Secretary Wilson by Chairman Foster of the house mine committee, who had received it from an officer of the United Mine Workers.

Threaten to Attack Militia. DENVER, Oct. 21.—No more action from Secretary Garrison asking what steps have been taken toward mobilizing the state militia in the coal strike districts had been received by Governor Ammons up to late tonight.

Ad. Gen. John Chase tonight announced the receipt of a report that 2,000 armed strikers in Colorado and four adjoining states were prepared to attack the militia should they return to police the strike zone. General Chase declared that the report was of a sensational character and authentic.

In explanation of the charge that armed militiamen were entering the strike fields, Governor Ammons stated that he advised the war department early today that the allegations were based on the fact that a few militiamen residing in the strike district returned home yesterday from the annual rifle practice at Denver with rifles that were supplied to them here.

Miners Protest to Washington. DENVER, Oct. 21.—The telegram of protest against the enlistment of new militia companies in the southern Colorado strike district sent by John R. Lawson was addressed to Senators John Shafroth and Charles S. Thomas, W. B. Wilson, secretary of labor; Edward Keating, congressman from Colorado; and Representatives M. D. Foster and John M. Evans, members of the house subcommittee which early this year conducted an investigation of the strike.

Follows. Militia and gunmen are being mobilized in Las Animas and Huerfano counties. Recruited from strike breakers, Baldwin-Bates & Co. officials in Delagua and Berwind canons, in Sopris and Saguando districts, also from the mines around Walsenburg. Last night, 14 militiamen got off the train at Leadville from north. They were in charge of Dr. Curry, consulting doctor at Hastings. Miners on strike and sympathizers are very much excited over the situation. Federal troops have taken no action.

U. S. Troops Receive No Orders

TRINIDAD, Colo., Oct. 21.—Col. J. Lockett, commander of the federal troops here, has received no orders or instructions from President Wilson or the war department concerning the telegram sent out last night by officials of the United Mine Workers in Denver protesting against the alleged importation of gunmen by the coal operators. Colonel Lockett this morning declined to discuss the matter, but authorized the statement that from advice received from investigating officers the men referred to in the union protest were members of the state militia and regular residents of the camps to which they were returning from rifle practice and that they had not violated any federal order governing the army authorities in the strike zone of southern Colorado.

CAN COMPANY IS GIVEN MILLION DOLLAR REBATE

Received Rebate Since Formation From Tin Plate Company, District Evidence Shows

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Secretly given the American Can Co. by the American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., a company amounting to more than $1,000,000 last year, according to a report given today by Charles H. Deane, an accountant, at a hearing before Judge Webster, who had examined the American Can company's books.

The books of the American Can Co. show a rebate of $1,000,000 in 1913. That the company had been receiving this rebate since its formation, when it amounted to $200,000 the last year.

Instead of being carried on the operating account, the rebates were credited directly to profit. The sales of the American Can Co. in 1913 and its subsidiaries, had increased from $1,000,000 in 1912 to $11,000,000 last year.

Turks Arouse Albania Against Serbs, Charge

ROME, Oct. 20 (Delayed).—The Gloriosa d'Italia says the Young Turks are conducting a campaign in Albania designed to make the Albanians fight the Serbians. This, the paper says, is a violation of the neutrality of Albania guaranteed by the conference of London. The only country now in position to enforce the agreement of the conference of London is Italy, owing to her neutrality, and the newspaper urges that the government take measures to prevent any further violation of Albania's neutrality.

The Tribune, discussing the same subject, remarks that France and Great Britain, with a view to respecting the neutrality of Albania, did not occupy any part of her coast as a base of operations, thereby sacrificing their own interests. The newspaper adds that if Italy occupies Albania for humanitarian reasons, this must not deter her from meeting the grave problems arising from the European conflict.

U. S. Troops Receive No Orders

TRINIDAD, Colo., Oct. 21.—Col. J. Lockett, commander of the federal troops here, has received no orders or instructions from President Wilson or the war department concerning the telegram sent out last night by officials of the United Mine Workers in Denver protesting against the alleged importation of gunmen by the coal operators. Colonel Lockett this morning declined to discuss the matter, but authorized the statement that from advice received from investigating officers the men referred to in the union protest were members of the state militia and regular residents of the camps to which they were returning from rifle practice and that they had not violated any federal order governing the army authorities in the strike zone of southern Colorado.

GARRISON ASKS GOV. AMMONS TO EXPLAIN TROOP MOBILIZATION

Nine Workers Again Protest Charge That Gunmen Are Being Recruited

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Secretary Garrison today telegraphed Governor Ammons of Colorado asking what steps have been taken toward mobilizing the state militia for service in the strike district. The secretary also asked the governor to explain the charge that gunmen are being recruited in the militia.

Secretary Garrison explained that his object in telegraphing Governor Ammons was merely to obtain information. He said that he had received a report that the state militia was being mobilized for service in the strike district and that he was interested in the matter. He said that he was not making any charge and that he was merely asking for information.

Turks Around Albania Against Serbs, Charge

ROME, Oct. 20 (Delayed).—The Albanian government says the Young Turks are conducting a campaign in Albania designed to force the Albanians to fight the Serbs. This, the paper says, is a violation of the neutrality of Albania guaranteed by the conference of London. The only country now in a position to enforce the agreement of the conference of London is Italy, owing to her neutrality, and the newspaper expects that the government will endeavor to prevent any further violation of Albania's neutrality.

SECRETARY BRYAN SAYS PEACE TREATIES SHOULD KEEP UNITED STATES OUT OF WARS

Thirty Countries Already Signed: Preparedness for War Can't Give Assurance for Peace

By T. W. ROSS

Interviewing Secretary William Jennings Bryan as he tried to eat lunch at a railroad counter as the train starts to pull out. You have to take what you can get and digest it after a while.

When Bryan reached Pueblo yesterday noon, where he was met by the Congressman Seldombridge, and a representative of The Gazette, he had just completed a long and arduous journey from Las Animas, La Junta and Rocky Ford, and was exhausted. In fact he was asleep when the train bumped into the yard, but he was forced to descend to the platform to shake hands with scores of admirers. Returning to the train and finding himself cornered, he consented to an interview.

"But it will have to be a short one," he said. "I've got to finish my nap. I have two hard speeches ahead of me and I must keep in shape."

Keeps in Training on Pie.

Secretary Bryan trains as faithfully as any athlete for his hard trips. And the piece de resistance on his bill of fare while traveling is pie—pie of all kinds and styles, but nevertheless pie. Bryan has a hearty appetite and his friends claim that because of his "training" he keeps his "punch" for his opponents.

As he sat facing the interviewer, dictating only what he wanted to get into print, he was looking out the window, with his mind probably anywhere from Washington to Mexico City, or even Europe. Doubtless it was Europe, because that was his first subject.

"We believe," he said—which was taken to mean "I believe"—"that the treaties we have just signed will make war between the United States and any nation in the future almost an impossibility. We have just signed 30 peace treaties. They include all of South America but one country, all of Central America and most of the countries of Europe. The first treaties signed were with Cuba, Haiti, Santo Domingo, and the European nations to sign. All of the A. B. C. South American countries signed in one day. Then Great Britain, France, Spain and China signed on one day, and Russia soon after. The last treaties signed were with Greece, Ecuador and Sweden, signed October 13. Besides those already signed, a number of other nations have indicated their principle—Belgium, Austria and Belgium—and we hope to soon have treaties with these nations. Before Christmas we hope to have signed with all the civilized world.

Provide for Full Investigation.

"All these treaties provide for the investigation of all disputes without exception whatever a year being given for the investigation by the international board."

Explaining why he takes so much time in having the interviewer write down everything the secretary said, "I am in a position where I must be correct," he said. "Too many reporters think they can improve on what a man says," he added with a twinkle in his eye.

"We must not be discouraged," he continued. "If this, the greatest of all wars, breaks out just when we were most hopeful that reason would be substituted for force in the settlement of international disputes. It may be that the world needed one more awful lesson to prove conclusively the fallacy of the doctrine that preparedness for war can give assurance for peace."

Preparing for War Cultivates Hatred.

"You cannot prepare for war without cultivating the spirit which provokes war. Preparations for war presuppose an enemy, who must be hated until he can be overcome. So, when you are preparing for war you are cultivating hatred which makes for war."

By unanimous consent nobody is responsible for the present war. I am glad that no crowned head has assumed responsibility for it. I am glad that we are living in an age in which war at last has become so unpopular that nobody wants to accept the responsibility for it.

"All the belligerent nations of Europe have contributed to the texture of our nation. They are our friends, all of them. We will be able to exert the greatest influence with them only when all of them see in us a friend."

As a memento of his recent peace treaties, Secretary Bryan carries with him one of the tiny plowshare paper weights, supposed to have been made from sword blades. He has presented one of these mementoes to the diplomats from the nations who have signed treaties with the United States.

When the Mexican situation first became acute, Secretary Bryan announced that "watchful waiting will win." When Huerta fled the capital, the secretary announced, "Watchful waiting wins." Yesterday he went himself one better and said:

Watchful Waiting Has Won.

"Watchful waiting has won. The Mexican situation is in a fair way to settle itself. The discussions now existing among the Constitutionalists are not likely to last long, and are not at all like the conflict between Huerta and the Constitutionalists."

The mediation in the Mexican trouble by South American diplomats is a favorite topic with the secretary, and he asked himself the question in order to get started.

"What effect has the action of the South American mediators (you had better call them the A. B. C. mediators, because the public knows them better by that name) had upon our relations with South America?"

"The effect has been excellent," he answered. "Nothing has happened in recent years that has brought the United States so close to the Latin-speaking nations. The offer of mediation showed the friendliness of these countries, and that prompt acceptance by this government made a deep and lasting impression on all Latin America."

Taking his massive gold watch from his waistcoat pocket, Bryan hinted that the interview was closing and began to slide over in his seat so he could get away.

Silent on Prohibition Question.

"What about prohibition, Mr. Secretary?" the interviewer asked. The question brought an immediate rise.

"I never discuss state issues—politically or socially," he said. "I am out in Colorado to lend what assistance I can to Senator Thomas, the Colorado congressman, and Senator Patterson, in his fight for election as governor. In all my speeches I am emphasizing the importance of electing these candidates, and shall point out the effect of Colorado's votes in the national administration."

His watch case snapped. "Young man I've got to get some sleep now. You took 15 minutes of my time, but you're welcome to it."

The secretary was particularly elated at seeing his son William Jennings Bryan, Jr., who accompanied his father and mother to this city, Young Bryan, who is an attorney at Tucson, Ariz., joined his father and mother at La Junta, but did not know his mother was along. The elder Bryan then thought of a joke on his son and sent him into the stateroom to get his overcoat. There, young Bryan found his mother waiting for him. He had not seen her for more than a year.

Former Governor Alva Adams, who accompanied Bryan on his tour of the Arkansas valley, observed that it was remarkable the number of people who met Secretary Bryan 20 years ago who insisted upon shaking hands with him.

Mrs. W. J. Bryan on Western Campaign

Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, wife of the secretary of state, is accompanying her husband on his present stumping tour through the west. One of her reasons for making the present trip was to see her son, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., who is an attorney in Tucson, Ariz. Until yesterday when he had led the train, the latter had not seen his parents for more than a year. Mrs. Bryan is usually in the audience when her husband gives an address indoors, when he speaks from an observation car she is seated on the platform knitting.

Where Is Lauder? Admirers Anxious

Where is Harry Lauder? All the members of the Caledonian society, as well as scores of other friends and admirers of the famous Scotch comedian, were asking that question last night, but no one could be found who knew the answer.

The Caledonian society has arranged for a demonstration when Lauder reaches Colorado Springs today, but those organizing the reception point out that it will be extremely difficult to meet the theatrical star at the station until the time of his arrival is known. Information to this effect was not available up to midnight last night. Today, however, the Caledonian and all others expecting to meet Lauder on his arrival here, are asked to call the Burns theater, Main 300, for information as to plans and the hour of his reaching Colorado Springs.

Two Additional Oil Wells to Be Drilled in DeBeque Fields

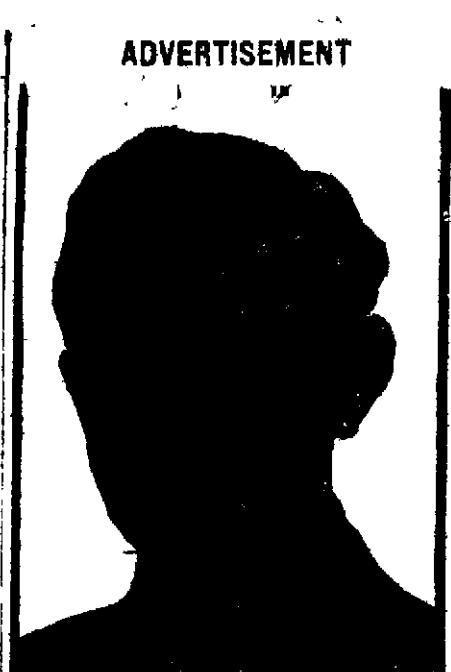

GRAND JUNCTION, Oct. 21.—The Book Cliff Petroleum company, composed of Denver and Oklahoma men, was organized recently to bore for oil in the DeBeque field. Last Wednesday C. E. Schoenfeld, W. E. Cogdell and George F. Frazer, the former of Muskogee, Okla., came in from Denver and Thursday went up Roan creek where they have land holdings and picked out the place where the first well will be put down and boring will commence within 30 days.

It is the intention of this company to sink two wells, but the location of the second one has not yet been decided upon. However, two wells will be drilled to a depth of 2,500 feet if necessary, and they believe from the formation of the country that they will encounter oil at a less depth, but if not will sink until they do strike it. The location of the first well is about 11 miles north of DeBeque, near the Carlsbad place. Mr. Schoenfeld returned to Nowata, Okla., Friday, where he owns all kinds of drilling machinery and will make the necessary arrangements to rush the rig and other paraphernalia to the DeBeque field. The contract for building the derrick has been let to Samuel Cronk of Florence.

Schoenfeld has secured the services of one of the best drillers known in Oklahoma—Wyoming, California and elsewhere, and expects to put down the well and be shipping oil inside of four months.

CARROLL IS AFTER BOUT WITH LEVINSKY IF HE IS ABLE TO BEAT GILBERT HERE

Ramona Duel Next Week Promises to Be Good
With Semiwindup That Will Be Hummer

By MERLE J. GRINDLE

The Ramona Athletic club, of which a Colorado City scribe asks, "When is a tent a building?" is going to pull off one of the classic bouts of the year next Tuesday night. The principals in the affair, Mr. Richard Gilbert of Denver and Mr. James Carroll of this city, otherwise known as "Fighting Dick" Gilbert and "Sailor" Carroll, are both entering the match with distinct objects in view.

Of course, when knights of the war blower enter the squared circle, they generally have some object in view—usually some vulnerable point of the anatomy of the opponent. Then, of course, the fighters give some thought to the winner's share of the purse. In this case, other objects figure in the event.

In the first place, Carroll has a hankering to battle with one Fighting Levinsky of New York City. Unless Carroll downs Gilbert next Tuesday night, the trip to New York will be about as lucrative as far as Levinsky is concerned—a raising of the pot against a royal flush. Carroll undoubtedly will be seen trailing along Broadway some time next week if he gets the decision. Otherwise, he may be content to remain in this city for some time to come.

Gilbert hopes to win for other reasons. He lost the decision on points at his last encounter with Carroll. The battle was closely contested, but that did not satisfy numerous Denverites who accompanied the Fighting Gilbert to this city and went back to Denver, minus several lesser or greater sums of money. The historic pair of fighting trunks and the memorable rabbit's foot which Gilbert wears at every fight and which seemed to be an omen of good luck, failed to bring victory. Gilbert, no doubt, underestimated Carroll at the last fight. The Denver man was not in proper condition. He figured Carroll to be a fighter who he could easily defeat and he, therefore, went into the contest, thinking he could win without an over amount of training. If Gilbert has kept within the bounds of the simple life since that battle, has held himself aloof from the well-known John Barleycorn and has trained consistently, he should win next Tuesday night's contest. Otherwise, Carroll will seek other opponents to conquer. As for handsomeness, sprained or otherwise—both fighters claimed those.

The Gilbert-Carroll go was originally scheduled to take place October 23. Gilbert asked for a stay of execution and the match was postponed until October 27. Gilbert claims that his hand will be in condition by that time and so the promoters agreed to pull off the affair four days later than the original agreement.

Gilbert will enter the fight with the express purpose of winning back the confidence of his supporters. He will enter the fight to win and the outcome depends entirely on the training he has done and the care he has taken of himself. Over Carroll, he has the advantage of experience and the ability to absorb an unlimited amount of punishment. Added to these he has a right which lands with great force when it does land. For some reason he failed to use this right much at his recent go with Carroll.

As for the other events on next Tuesday's card, "Spider" Roach of San Francisco and Harry Goldie of Hankou are scheduled for the semiwindup, to fight eight rounds. The boxers are featherweights and so far as Roach is concerned, the event should be almost as good as the main contest.

Jack Wilson, sporting editor of the Denver Post, will referee all contests at Tuesday night's show and, at any rate, the fans are assured of fair decisions.

Hank Gowdy Can't Escape Being Rich

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Fortune certainly has smiled on Hank Gowdy, catcher of the new world's baseball champions. Money is simply rolling in as a result of his wonderful play in the big series. Aside from his end of the series, about $2,000, Hank has pulled down close to $14,000, according to his mother, and a five-year contract, and $7,000 a year awaits him.

The night after Gowdy knocked that homerun drive, he was approached by a manufacturer. "I'll give you $50 for your signature to a note recommending my salve," said the manufacturer. "A hat concern offered him $500 for a letter bearing their hat and for the right to put out a 'Gowdy' special."

An Easton rubber heel company gave him $500, and with 10 suits of clothes for his hosiery sweat, Hank received other minor gifts. And this wasn't all. Hammelman of New York offered him and Dick Rudolph $1,000 a week each for 10 weeks to appear on the stage, and they accepted with pleasure. Wealth threatens to follow him.

'POP' GEERS RETIRE? HE SHOULD SAY NOT; 63 YEARS OLD, 36 YEARS IN THE SULKEY

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS
Harold Bell Wright's most popular novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," which a million copies have been sold, has been made into a play by its author with the assistance of Robert W. Reynolds. The second annual engagement of this play in this city will take place at the Opera House on Monday, Oct. 26, when it plays an engagement of one night only.

MISS KATHERINE PAULY.
Who appears in "The Shepherd of the Hills," the musical extravaganza appearing at the Opera House, under the auspices of the Fisks.

The play is a tragedy in a true sense of the word. It touches all the emotions, and its influence is a wholesome and helpful one. The story is a rough, but it is a story of a man who has been a shepherd of the hills, and who has been a man of the hills. The story is a story of a man who has been a shepherd of the hills, and who has been a man of the hills.

25 FEDERAL SOLDIERS HIT GLORY TRAIL IN BOULDER

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 21.—Twenty-five of the federal soldiers who are camped on the rifle range south of Boulder responded to Evangelist T. J. Bulkin's plea that they follow a Christian life. This brings the number of converts secured by the evangelist in the past two days to over 300.

Has Fine Action in the Blood

Does Real Work in Clearing Body of Impurities

It is to the skin that blood impurities are driven by Nature. And it is in the skin that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, has its most pronounced influence. For it is here that you see the results. S. S. S. is none the less effective in the joints, glands, and mucous surfaces in driving out rheumatism, eczema, boils and ridding the system of catarrh.
The purely vegetable ingredients in S. S. S. are naturally assimilated but they enter the blood as an active medicine and are not destroyed or converted while at work. It is this peculiar feature of S. S. S. that makes it so effective. It gets into action all the forces of the body, arouses digestive secretions, stimulates the blood circulation to destroy disease breeding germs.
Upon entering the blood S. S. S. is carried throughout your body in about three minutes. And in a brief time it has any blood trouble so under control that it no longer can multiply. Gradually new flesh is formed in all broken-down places and the skin takes on the rosy glow of health. Be sure and get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist, but avoid all substitutes.
Around the bottle is an illustrated circular that tells you how to obtain special free advice in quickly overcoming serious blood disorders. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 99 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

WOMAN SENATOR UPHOLDS ADMINISTRATION IN ITS ATTITUDE TOWARD EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Helen Ring Robinson Declares Women Who Do Not Aid Democrats Are Traitors

The one man in all the world whose righteousness, patriotism and wisdom and whose Christian goodness fits him to be the central figure in the movement which will eventually bring about worldwide peace, who has been prepared by God himself for this great accomplishment, is Woodrow Wilson.
Addressing the gathering at Temple Theater yesterday afternoon as a forerunner to the address of William Jennings Bryan, State Senator Helen Ring Robinson made the above tribute to Wilson in a talk that was given in answer to statements made here by representatives of the Congressional Union of Washington, which is opposing Democratic candidates for congress.
Mrs. Robinson declared that the present administration has done more for the cause of woman suffrage, or equal suffrage as she put it, than has been done in many years. She denied that President Wilson had refused to give hearings to delegations of women who waited upon him from time to time, as has been charged by Congress and union representatives. She stated that the president has not only the arguments of these delegations at least six times.

MRS. BEIDEL TELLS WOMEN

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health for 14 Years.

Shippensburg, Pa.—"It was several years ago that I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I then suffered terribly every month. My husband bought me a bottle of it and it helped me right away. Then after my second child was born I had a female trouble very badly and I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and in a short time was cured and have been in excellent health since. I always praise the Compound whenever I have an opportunity as I know it helped me and will help others. Lately I have given the Compound to my daughter and I wish all suffering women would take it and be convinced of its worth."—Mrs. JAMES A. BEIDEL, 118 N. Penn Street, Shippensburg, Pa.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.
If you have the slightest doubt of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will help you. Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (In France) at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, and you will be helped by a woman and not a doctor.

What Abe Lincoln Says About the SALOON

From His Speech Made Before the Washingtonian Society, Springfield, Ill.

But when one who has long been known as a victim of intemperance bursts the fetters that have bound him and appears before his neighbors "clothed and in his right mind," a redeemed specimen of long-lost humanity, and with tears in his eyes, to tell of the miseries once endured, now to be endured no more forever; of his once naked and starving children, now clad and fed comfortably; of a wife long weighed down with woe, weeping and a broken heart, now restored to health, happiness and a renewed affection; and how easily it is all done, once it is resolved to be done; how simple his language! There is logic and an eloquence in it that few human feelings can resist.

But, if it be true, as I have insisted, that those who have suffered by intemperance personally and have reformed, are the most powerful and efficient instruments to push the reformation to ultimate success, it does not follow that those who have not suffered have no part left them to perform. Whether or not the world would be vastly benefited by a total and final banishment from it of all intoxicating drinks seems to me not now an open question.

THREE-FOURTHS OF MANKIND CONFESS THE AFFIRMATIVE WITH THEIR TONGUES, AND, I BELIEVE, ALL THE REST ACKNOWLEDGE IT IN THEIR HEARTS.

Ought any, then, to refuse their aid in doing what good the good of the whole demands? Shall he who cannot do much be for that reason excused if he do nothing?

"But," say some, "we are no drunkards, and we shall not acknowledge ourselves such by joining a reformed 'drunkards' society, whatever our influence might be." Surely no Christian will adhere to this objection. If they believe as they profess, that Omnipotence condescended to take to Himself the form of sinful man, and as such to die an ignominious death for their sakes, surely they will not refuse submission to the infinitely less condescension, for the temporal, and perhaps eternal, salvation of a large, erring and unfortunate class of their fellow-creatures. Nor is this condescension very great. In my judgment, such of us as have never fallen victims have been spared more by the absence of appetite than by any mental or moral superiority over those who have. Indeed, I believe if we take habitual drunkards as a class, their heads and their hearts will bear an advantageous comparison with those of any other class.

By it (temperance) no orphans starving, no widows weeping. By it, none wounded in feeling, none injured in interest; even the dram-maker and dram-seller will have glided into other occupations so gradually as never to have felt the change, and will stand ready to join all others in the universal song of gladness. And what a noble ally this to the cause of political freedom; with such an aid its march cannot fail to be on and on, till every son of earth shall drink in rich fruition the sorrow-quenching draughts of perfect liberty.

And when the victory shall be complete when there shall be neither a slave nor a drunkard on the earth how proud the title of that land which may truly claim to be the birthplace and the cradle of both those revolutions that shall have ended in that victory. How nobly distinguished that people who shall have planted and nurtured to maturity both the political and moral freedom of their species.
